

Family Development Associates Children in the Middle classes comply with the requirements of the State of Iowa Code Section 598.19A for parents who are divorcing, separating or involved in a modification process.

Children in the Middle is a class that provides education and affirmation for parents of children facing a change in their living arrangements.

Change in their family structure can be a difficult and stressful experience for children.

Conducted by trained professionals who are experienced in dealing with families and children, this class focuses on the needs of the children whose families are in the midst of a change or conflict.

Topics covered:

- Facts about divorce
- Age-related behaviors
- Communication
- Anger Management
- Conflict Resolution
- The Grief Process
