

Iowa Judicial Branch

Law Clerk (Legal Assistant) Information Sheet

Background

Traditionally, each of the seven justices on the Iowa Supreme Court and each of the nine judges on the Iowa Court of Appeals employs a law clerk. The clerks' duties typically include conducting legal research; drafting memoranda, preparing summaries, and reviewing opinions to assist the justice or judge with the disposition of cases.

The eight judicial districts (trial courts) also employ law clerks to assist trial judges. Law clerk duties at the district level may vary from district to district, but generally include legal research and writing.

Work locations of Iowa Supreme Court law clerks and for the Iowa Court of Appeals law clerks are at the Judicial Branch Building in Des Moines. Locations vary across the state for district court law clerks.

Law clerks must be law school graduates. Employment is usually for a one-year period, beginning in August. At a judge's discretion, clerks may be offered the opportunity to continue employment for another year or so. Law clerks are eligible for a full range of benefits including health and dental insurance, disability and life insurance, 11 holidays and two weeks' vacation. Annual salaries are:

Law Clerk 1	(District Court)	$48,401
Law Clerk 2	(Court of Appeals)	$52,936
Law Clerk 3	(Supreme Court)	$56,305

How To Apply

Apply early. Deadlines vary, but applications for positions start arriving as early as spring of the year prior to commencement of employment. Application criteria vary somewhat according to the individual preferences of the judge or justice. In general, strong writing ability, GPA, class standing, and law review experience are important.

Supreme Court and Court of Appeals: Each justice and judge sets his or her own interviewing schedule. Applications should include a resume and cover letter. Some justices or judges may request a law school transcript, recent writing sample and references.
